Teachers in High-Visibility Garments: A Key to Safer School Drop-Off Zones

School drop-off and pick-up times are often hectic and high-risk periods, with parents rushing to get their children to class or home, sometimes driving erratically or distractedly. Teachers and staff play a vital role in managing this chaos since they are often directing traffic and guiding children to safety. Wearing high-visibility garments greatly enhances their ability to be seen by drivers and students alike—helping prevent accidents by making staff instantly recognizable, even in low light or crowded conditions. Per the MUTCD, adult crossing guards (and staff working in the roadway) should wear high-visibility, retroreflective apparel labeled to ANSI/ISEA 107 Type R, Class 2 at minimum; consider Class 3 for nighttime or higher-speed areas. Prioritizing high-visibility gear for school personnel is a simple yet powerful step toward creating a safer environment for everyone during these busy transitions.
